

When Employees Stink... Literally!

Tim McHeffey takes real-life, sticky people situations from your audience and demonstrates how to solve them quickly and permanently, live on air.

Tim's previous media appearances include Sirius Radio, ABCNews, Long Island Business News, among others.

Forget your college textbook - it ain't in there!

Story Ideas

What should you do when you are scared to fire a hothead employee? What if you observe an employee returning from lunch staggering and slurring? What if your best performer also causes the most problems? How do you tell an employee they have an odor problem?!

The lessons in Solving Sticky People Problems -- using patience, humility, and purity to unlock your "supervisory inner sense" -- can be applied to just about any situation: whether you work for a company with thousands of employees, run a nonprofit... even your friends and family!

With a new foreword by Barbara Litrell, Solving Sticky People Problems covers the most difficult workplace scenarios you can imagine. Tim will tell an abridged version of these stories to your listeners, and even solve problems in real time using his "PHP" method.

About Tim

Tim McHeffey brings 40 years of being on the "firing-line" daily, demonstrating solutions for real, painful workplace problems. He is an author and seminar speaker and has trained thousands of executives and other business people. Tim has appeared on:

5.0 ★★★★★

Book Tim on your radio or television program today.
Tim@stickypeopleproblems.com - 631.988.9966
Stickypeopleproblems.com